

Seems to me that big media already has too much controll of access to information by regular folks.